Trust

It's what all businesses seek from a consultant, yet few believe they can find it.

At New Resources Consulting, trust is rooted in integrity and proven capability. We believe a consulting partner must not only demonstrate strong character but also deliver reliable results consistently, day in and day out.

Since 1992, we have helped clients leverage technology with creativity, precision, and discipline to drive business success. Our consultants bring expertise in the latest technology solutions, an understanding of fundamental business challenges, and a dedication to helping you overcome obstacles and achieve your goals.

A consulting firm that does what it says it will do?
You can count on it.

A Testament to Success

NRC's AIG leader Cameron Vetter and lead AI engineer Adam Tegen conducted a multi-day AI Innovation Workshop with a leader in the insurance industry. At the end of the week, the company's Manager of Management Benefits and Analytics said:

"I wanted to let you all know that I have been a part of many think tank sessions in my previous life and this one tops the list. [The session was a] great use of time—the consultants had a good format to get the group grounded then open minded to think big. [Cameron and Adam are] highly intelligent SMEs and leadership, and the avenue we have to make these changes is proven, cost-effective, and impactful."

The VP of Software said, "[NRC's AI team was] putting ourselves at the forefront of our industry."

"New Resources Consulting conducted a comprehensive PeopleSoft Financials Roadmap Roundtable for a prestigious Chicago-based organization, who has been a mainstay in Chicago for more than 100 years. The organization operates as three different entities, resulting in a PeopleSoft installation that is not optimized nor easily consolidated at most levels. The various entities are comprised of Accounting, Treasury, Strategic Sourcing, Budgeting, Risk Management, Legal, Information Services, and Human Resources. They desired a defined strategic roadmap of their PeopleSoft enterprise system with identified short-term, mid-term, and long-term targets to further support their culture of continuous improvement. Over 30 quick wins, mid-term and long-term recommendations were made to allow for a continuous stream of value and benefits."

"Berlin Packing had identified multiple technology project initiatives that could enhance their organization's overall business efficiencies, but they were unable to move them forward due to their staff's consuming day-to-day responsibilities. NRC's Managed Services Team provided daily support to allow Berlin's team to focus on completing their project initiatives while ensuring their overall duties were being met."
